Message From The Chairperson

This year, I take great pride in presenting the 2011-2012 Annual Report for the Transportation Appeal Tribunal of Canada ("Tribunal"), representing twenty-five years of excellence in transportation administrative tribunal services in Canada since the inauguration of its predecessor, the Civil Aviation Tribunal, in 1986.

A quasi-judicial body, the Tribunal serves Canadians by hearing Review and Appeal Hearing of Federal enforcement and licensing decisions in the transportation industry, specifically in the aviation, marine, rail, and the bridges and tunnels sectors (including medical cases). The Tribunal provides an accessible, transparent forum for communication and conflict resolution between the federal government and various transportation industry stakeholders. In this capacity, we play an active and innovative role in shaping government legislation and policies, as well as industry practices.

Upholding the professionalism of Members and staff is of the utmost importance at the Tribunal. Our Members represent a broad spectrum of the Canadian public and bring with them the unique and intimate knowledge and experience necessary to make informed decisions on transportation administrative statutory actions.

As Chairperson, I ensure that Members are provided with the training necessary to preserve our high standards of professionalism. We have enhanced our training for new Members to ensure their unique qualifications are wellanchored in the Tribunal's administrative law tradition. Also, we continue to develop various tools such as a new Code of Conduct and Members' teleconferences to further solidify the professionalism of our Members and the prestige of the Tribunal.

When the Civil Aviation Tribunal was established in 1986, it was unique in the world as a forum to review national aviation administrative actions. Since its re-inauguration as the multi-modal Transportation Appeal Tribunal of Canada in 2003, the Tribunal has continued to carry an ever-increasing workload, which was spurred by the enactment of the Marine Personnel Regulations in 2007 and the Railway Safety Act in 2004. In order to better realize our ever-increasing mandate, Tribunal Members regularly engage with the transportation industry through speeches, participating in conferences and publishing articles in the marine and aviation sectors. The Tribunal continues to receive positive feedback from industry stakeholders.

Providing the services of the Tribunal would be impossible without the dedication of Tribunal Members and staff and I would like to extend my heartfelt gratitude and ongoing professional respect to them.

J. Richard W. Hall
Chairperson and CEO

Overview

Introduction

The Transportation Appeal Tribunal of Canada replaced the Civil Aviation Tribunal in 2003, originally established under Part IV of the Aeronautics Act in 1986. On the recommendation of the Minister of Transport, pursuant to section 73 of the Transportation Appeal Tribunal of Canada Act, assented to on December 18, 2001, being chapter 29 of the Statutes of Canada, 2001, the Act officially came into force on June 30, 2003. The Tribunal is available to hear Review and Appeal Hearings emanating from the air, marine and rail sectors.

Sections 2 and 3 of the Transportation Appeal Tribunal of Canada Act amend the Aeronautics Act, the Canada Shipping Act, the Marine Transportation Security Act, the Railway Safety Act, the Canada Transportation Act, the International Bridges and Tunnels Act and the Canada Marine Act to establish the jurisdiction and decision-making authorities of the Tribunal under those Acts.

Mandate

The Tribunal's principal mandate, as a multi-transportation modal administrative law review body, is to hold Review and Appeal Hearings at the request of interested parties with respect to certain administrative actions taken under various federal transportation Acts.

3

Program Objective and Description

The objective of the program is to provide the transportation community with the opportunity to have enforcement and licensing decisions of the Minister of Transport reviewed by an independent quasi-judicial body.

The Minister's enforcement and licensing decisions may include the issuance of orders, the imposition of monetary penalties or the suspension, cancellation, refusal to renew, or the refusal to issue or amend documents of entitlement on medical or other grounds. The person or corporation affected is referred to as the document holder.

These decisions are reviewed through a two-level hearing process: Review and Appeal. All hearings are held expeditiously and informally, in accordance with the administrative law rules of fairness and natural justice.

Overview

At the conclusion of a hearing, the Tribunal may confirm the Minister's decision, substitute its own decision, or refer the matter back to the Minister for reconsideration.

It is noteworthy to mention that the increased jurisdiction for the Tribunal will enlarge the caseload considerably over the next few years.

Organizational Structure

The Tribunal's Chairperson is also its Chief Executive Officer. The Chairperson is responsible for the direction and supervision of the work necessary to facilitate the functions of the Tribunal. The Chairperson, Vice-Chairperson and immediate staff account for twelve full-time equivalents.

Twenty-six part-time Members were in office during 2011-2012. Members are drawn from across Canada and are appointed by Governor in Council on the basis of their transportation knowledge and expertise. During fiscal year 2011-2012, four part-time Members were renewed and six new part-time Members were appointed.

Basic Principles

The basic principles governing the Tribunal are those of independence and transportation expertise. The sound and competent execution of the Tribunal's mandate determines its effectiveness in dealing with the national transportation community.

The Tribunal offers its services in both official languages of Canada. It is also itinerant, in the sense that its hearings take place throughout Canada, at the convenience of the parties to the extent possible.

In enforcement matters, the location will normally be where the alleged infraction occurred, or the nearest practical alternative, so that witnesses for the parties may present themselves with minimum displacement costs.

In medical cases, hearings are held at the location which is nearest to the residence of the document holder and attainable by way of commercial transportation.

Organization Chart

* Eleven full-time equivalents (FTEs) are utilized by the continuing full-time employees, including the Chairperson and Vice-Chairperson. The 26 part-time Members use approximately three full-time equivalents. During fiscal year 2011-2012, four part-time Members were renewed and six new part-time Members were appointed.

2011-2012 In Review

Activities

This annual report covers the twelve months between April 1, 2011 and March 31, 2012. In this reporting period, the Tribunal registered 180 new requests for review (95 aviation and 83 marine, 2 Canadian Transportation Agency [CTA]), and 11 requests for appeal (8 aviation and 3 marine). This represents an increase of 36 new case files registered over fiscal year 2010-2011. Additionally, 13 requests for certificates were received from the Minister, pursuant to section 7.92 of the Aeronautics Act.

In addition to the new cases registered in this reporting period, 164 cases were carried over from the previous reporting period, bringing the total caseload to 355. This represents an increase of 62 cases over the fiscal year 2010-2011.

In this reporting period, the Tribunal registered 180 new requests for review

The Tribunal heard 40 first level reviews (23 aviation and 17 marine) and 4 second level appeals (3 aviation and 1 CTA) for a total of 64 hearing days. This represents an increase of 18 hearings over the previous fiscal year. Of the 44 cases that proceeded to a hearing, many cases were postponed and rescheduled at a later date. At the end of 2011-2012, 172 cases were pending further action, 16 were awaiting decisions and 16 had been scheduled for the 2012-2013 fiscal year.

In the 2011-2012 reporting period, 105 cases were concluded without a hearing. It should be noted that of these 105 cases many were requests filed with the Tribunal and concluded shortly before the hearing was to take place, which means that all registry work that leads up to the hearing was completed.

The 105 cases concluded without a hearing were resolved in a number of ways: the document holder paid the fine before the hearing commenced; the document holder's licence was reinstated before the hearing; the request for hearing was withdrawn by the document holder; the notice was withdrawn by the Minister; or an agreement was reached between the parties.

Effectiveness

The Tribunal's effectiveness can be measured by its ability to provide the Canadian transportation community with the opportunity to have Ministerial decisions reviewed fairly, equitably and within a reasonable period of time.

The average lapsed time in 2011-2012 between the conclusion of a Review Hearing and the issuance of a determination is 125 days and 150 days for an Appeal Hearing. This brings the hearing process to a timely conclusion for both parties appearing before the Tribunal.

The Tribunal encourages the use of pre-hearing conferences to assist the parties appearing before it, to identify the issues for determination by the Tribunal and to disclose and exchange documents. This reduces the length of hearings and avoids last-minute adjournments necessitated by late disclosure of information.

In 2010-2011, the Tribunal referred 3 aviation cases back to the Minister of Transport for reconsideration, pursuant to 7.1 of the Aeronautics Act, in light of the Tribunal lacking the power to substitute its own decision for that of the Minister in these cases. The Minister upheld the Review Determination in 2 cases and we are awaiting the outcome in 1 case.

In 2011-2012, the Tribunal referred 6 cases back to the Minister for reconsideration (5 aviation and 1 marine). We are awaiting the outcome of all these cases.

Training and Development

When new Members are appointed, they receive in-house training in all aspects of administrative law and the conduct of hearings. As well, external legal counsel is available to assist during pre-hearing, hearing and post-hearing matters. Internally, the staff is encouraged to undergo annual professional education.

The Tribunal's success can, in great part, be attributed to the importance placed on the training and development of its Members and staff.

The quality of the hearings which are held across the country and the decisions which are rendered are reflective of the high level of experience possessed by and the training provided to all Tribunal Members.

Future Plans

With the prediction of a significantly increased caseload primarily related to the marine sector, the Tribunal will be seeking additional funding to sustain its multi-modal transportation mandate.

The most significant upcoming challenge for the Tribunal will be the realization of its expansion as a multi-modal transportation tribunal addressing the air, marine and rail sectors. This will increase the overall workload and require expansion of capacity in new areas of expertise and more Members will have to be appointed and trained. Existing employees will likely require additional training and new staff will have to be hired to ensure that the current efficiencies will be maintained.
